...ambitious for our seas and coasts

The MMO value your views so please come along and have a conversation with them. If you can't make it to one of the MMO's sessions, please send them an email saying what's concerning you and what you would like to see being done.

fmp@marinemanagement.org.uk

Officers from the MMO will be speaking to stakeholders to provide information on the FMP, to answer questions, and to gather feedback on their management recommendations. In addition to the dates advertised in this news item, two workshops will also be held in Plymouth and Folkestone where the MMO aim to have more detailed discussions and trade-off conversations with invited stakeholders.

The MMO have a second set of dates (week commencing 4th December) for further events that will be published next week.

You can follow news about the events using links below and D&S IFCA is helping to support the Marine Management Organisation (MMO) by highlighting and circulating the information that has been produced.
